

An optical pickup device includes a lens for projecting a light onto a recording medium, a lens holder elastically supported by a frame and holding said lens, an actuator mounted in and driving said lens holder, and a weight part balanced with a weight of said actuator.

5